

Rhodes students stand with the K'Nex structures they built. The structure on the left is attached

