

A student works on a snap circuit remote control rover that is powered by correctly hooking

