

Charles Clyde Ball was born in a small town in Lake County, South Dakota on October 21, 1881. He graduated from Iowa State University in 1904. He served in the Iowa schools as a teacher and later as high school principal until 1923 when he was invited to San Antonio. Later, he was placed in charge of Junior schools in San Antonio, serving very effectively in that capacity until 1931. Our school was named for this educator who worked in San Antonio's public schools from 1923 until 1931.