

NEWS AROUND THE DISTRICT

Fifth graders draft plan for outdoor learning spaces

Nearly 50 fifth graders at Bowden Academy made a presentation to the community Wednesday that could change the future of their school. They shared the designs they have been working on over the last five weeks for new outdoor learning spaces for the campus. It's a project that's been in the works for months after the students took a trip to Bamberger Ranch Preserve in Johnson City. "When we went to Bamberger Ranch, I got a lot of sunlight and it made me happy," student Adam Martinez said. "I had a lot less stress." The students have now been working to re-create that magic at Bowden by designing plans for three outdoor spaces of their own.

Six Lego robotics teams tapped for regional contest

San Antonio ISD held its second annual FIRST Lego League Robotics Competition on Feb. 18 at Hot Wells Middle School. Students in grades 4-8 had the opportunity to participate in this robotics event to show what they learned through this year's theme, "Superpowered," which challenged students to improve the energy journey to their community. Last year, this event was open to only middle schoolers, but with growing interest in expanding STEM opportunities to fourth and fifth graders, the Career and Technical Education Department's STEM 6-12 program partnered with the Educational Technology & Design Department's K-5 program to expand the reach of this program to elementary students. A total of 21 schools participated. Pictured is Davis Middle School, one of six schools who qualified for the regional contest March 4.

Black History Month bus visits district schools

The San Antonio ISD transportation department has been driving its Black History Month Pop-Up Museum to campuses across the district. Pictured are students from Herff Elementary enjoying the bus, which includes photos, brief bios, and a video link to compelling stories about district schools named after Black Americans. The bus has already visited 13 schools and plans to visit at least 15 more. "We expanded the program this year due to demand from the schools," Nathan Graf, senior executive director of Transportation, said. "This year we have double the number of schools participating. In fact, we had to expand the dates into March to accommodate the need."

CLOSING SHOTS

Students from all over the district have loved the lessons about animals at the San Antonio Stock Show and Rodeo grounds. Taking in the activities including dog shows, petting zoos and the much-anticipated pig races, students were in hog heaven as they learned valuable lessons about science. Pictured are Democracy Prep at Stewart, Highland Park Elementary, the Advanced Learning Academy at Euclid, Will Rogers Academy, and Schenck Elementary. The San Antonio Stock Show and Rodeo ends on Sunday, Feb. 26.
